Conflict management

Agreeing to disagree and compromise if needed

Often disagreeing over something can escalate to a fight (both verbal and physical). It's fine to discuss and get to an understanding of another person's views but sometimes you are never going to agree. Knowing when to just let go of an argument and compromise is a key life skill.

Role play situations:

Discussing things like where to go for dinner, a favorite sports team or band, who should get the last slice of pizza.

Recognize passive, assertive and aggressive forms of communication. Use "I" Statements

"Focus on making yourself better, not thinking you are better"
